

How Does NPI Manage Technology?

We don't run the wiring....
we design, inspect and test the wiring for peak performance

We don't manufacture the hardware....
we select, install and adjust the right hardware for your unique needs

We don't code the applications....
we select, configure and tune applications for optimal performance

We don't provide the telecommunications....
we architect, manage and monitor the connections for best performance

We don't develop websites....
we install and secure the website environment

We don't write the product support agreements....
we help you choose right options and track renewal dates

We don't create monitoring and management software....
we use monitoring and management software for continual uptime

We don't put you in the middle of arguing with technology vendors
we take ownership of the business problem and get it resolved

We don't sit on the vendor side of the table.....
we're on your side, coordinating all the Technology Management elements
